Louisville Manufactures-White Lead and Oil An interesting branch of manufactures which is, as yet, in its infancy in Louisville, is that of the production of white lead, linseed oil, &c. The annual consumption of paints of every descrip tion in this country is becoming enormous. Each year sees extensive additions made to the buildings not only in every city, town and village, but on almost every farm and homestead in the country. As the population and wealth of the nation crease, there is, of course, an enlarged demand for tenements of every kind, accompanied by a greater disposition to construct them of a better order, and finish them in a style of elegance materially in advance of the previous prevailing inclinations in that direction. The owners of property in cities, as well as of the substantial rura dwellings now so common throughout the South and West, are generally cognizant of the fact,

There is but one white lead and linseed oil factory in the city-that of Messrs. Waters & Foxon Main street, between Ninth and Tenth streets. principal buildings are of brick, spacious and well constructed, and apparently admirably adapted to the purposes for which they were built. The engines, machinery, power presses, and fixtures of all kinds, are new, and seem well suited to the different parts of the work, Without professing to have any special knowledge of what is best in the way of apparatus, &c., for this particular kind of manufacture, we confess we do not see how any improvement could be made that would give greater facilities to the work, or cheapen, or render it in any way more

The proprietors inform us that in the white lead department of their factory, they consume about five hundred tons of raw material, and white lead, five thousand kegs of zinc white, and large quantities of bar lead, &c., annually. Their supplies of pig lead are purchased in Galena and St. Louis. None but the softest and best article of Galena is used in making white lead.

In the oil department they use, annually, about 40,000b ushels of flax seed, making from 75,000 to 80,000 galiens of oil, and about 800 tons of oil cake. The oil cake is mostly sold for the London market. It is worth there, about $50 per ton, and something like half that price here. It is a favorite article with the English farmers, who use immense quantities of it in feeding cattle. The farmers in this part of the country have not learned, or do not fully appreciate its value for that purpose. But in English farming and cattle feeding, oil cake is justly regarded as being the cheapest and most valuable food that can be had for stock. So far from the oil manufactured in this mill being sufficient to supply their trade, the proprietors are compelled to buy in other markets, as much oil as they manufacture, to enable them to meet the wants of their customers.

Their trade is increasing rapidly, and seems susceptible of enlargement to almost any Their sales of lead and are principally made to their customers in Kentucky, Indiana, and Tennessee, but they are beginning to sell to almost every section in the south, and expect their trade in that direction to increase very rapidly. The opening of the Nashville Railroad will give an additional stimulus to their business, as it will render access to this market at all times easy and certain, to a large section of Kentucky and Tennessee, that can only get goods at seasons when the small rivers in those neighborhoods are navigable. The concern usually employ about fifty hands, and pay out about four hundred dollars per week for wages. They say they have every facility of location or otherwise, for obtaining supplies of raw material, and for manufacturing cheaply and can compete successfully with any establishment of the kind, east or west. The proprietors have their office at their factory, and are at all times ready to receive and fill orders for their goods.

THE LATEST OPPOSITION CONVENTION-GIBSON MALLORY AND PENNEBAKER SPEAK.—The brethren held a convention at Mozart Hall, on Saturday, to nominate two candidates for the Legislature for Jefferson county. Mr. Daniel M. Jones was selected as Chairman, and another of that family-

Jack, the cleverest of them all-acted as Secretary. The announcement of ex-Governor Merriweth r and Samuel Geiger as Democratic candidates threw a damper over the Opposition, and they encountered great difficulty in prevailing on two persons to submit to the ordeal of sacrifice. The Chairman, on taking the stand, indulged in a few remarks. He said he was going to work for Capt. Pennebaker, their candidate for the Senate, against Lem. Hyatt, but he thought it was mighty bad nomination. Considering that the Captain was present, this was rather personal and cool-cool as ice. No one wanted to run. At one stage of the proceedings, Gibson Malory, who had been overslaughed in the Senatorial Convention, was put in nomination. This he peremptorily declined, and left. Subsequently, Mr. Chas. U. Shreve suggested that probably, if the nomination were tendered by acclamation Mallory would accept. The Chairman thought it might heal his wound, and they unanimously voted the Honorable ex-Senator might run, and committee were sent out to ascertain his feelings on the subject. They returned with him, and he again refused the proferred honor. In the remarks he submitted, Mr. Mallory commented unfavorably, and in plain terms, on the political uggling of our pigeon-shooting friend, Colonel Blanton Drincan, who has gone to see a battle in Europe. But Mallory wouldn't run, not a bit

In the absence of the committee, a ballot was taken for the other candidate, which resulted in the choice of Thos, P. Camp by a vote of $4-0. C. Curry receiving 10, Dr. McMurtry 8.

Capt. Pennebaker, who was called on for speech, said the nomination for Senator was a nor would he decline it. Whatever bickerings or ill feeling might have been caused by the use of his name, he was not responsible. He intended to respond to the honor of the nomination by pearing the standard right worthily-and he would do anything to win that became an honorable man, even to bush-whacking it. Jefferson county, he said, if properly organized, would give a maority for the Opposition. The Seventh and Eighth Wards would roll up from 300 to 400 majority, so there could be no doubt of his success. Capt. didn't know exactly whether national politics or State policy, or both, would govern the canvass, but he reckoned as Davy Merriwether was in the field, he (P.) would have to break a lance at every point. He said Gov. Merriwether had never been beaten in Jefferson county. In this he is mistaken; the Governor was once by hard work. But he also said the Governor would be licked this time-and that is a still greater mis take. The Captain's speech didn't make the faithful at all "enthocsiastic."

The convention concluded their business by ominating Dr. McMurtry without a ballot, al though Curry had the most friends, according to the first show of hands. And then the most sensible thing of the day was done-the convention adjourned.

FIRE INSURANCE.—As we predicted some months ince, the underwriters are rapidly reducing the premium charged for fire risks on property and nerchandise in this city. An agent for a foreign curing the best materials, and protecting their office doing business here gives notice that he will take risks at much lower rates than have fects of the weather, by a liberal and free use of heretofore been charged, "believing the present fire organization to justify as low rates as any charged in other cities.'

The publication of the report of the Chief of the of the West, were collected, and the particulars | Fire Department will show the immense advancorrectly ascertained, it would be found that the tages resulting from the introduction of the steam fire engine and a paid fire department. That report is looked for with anxiety, and should be made public without further delay. We hope, as soon as the Water Works are completed and an abundant supply of water is brought to the city, that the regular rates of insurance on good meta roof buildings will go down as low as they are in Philadeiphia where, we are informed, they are not over three-eighths to one-half per cent.

The citizens of Louisville are greatly indebted to James Speed, Esq., and the late Wm. Atkinson for the introduction of the steam fire engine and the paid fire department. Those gentlemen, six Aldermen, and the latter in the Common Council, advocated with all their power, and finally carried against strong opposition in both Boards, the proposition to construct a steam fire engine, which was done under contract by Mr. John Lawson That engine, it is true, proved a failure, but it is nevertheless the fact, that these gentlemen were the original movers, and early and energetic advocates of this important reform in the fire de partment of the city, and to them belongs the honor of having first brought forward and sustained the theory, which, in a more perfected form, is now producing such important and bene ficial results to the city.

hour, two watchful guardians of the city, in spying out what was to he seen, caught a negro boy and a white woman together in a house on the alley, between Third and Fourth and Main and Market streets. The fix in which they were discovered left no doubt of their intentions. As the officers en tered the room, the darkey bounced up and en deavored to escape by jumping from the second story window. He did jump, but lit on a negro woman, and both came to the ground heavily The woman was badly hurt, but the sable Lotha rio was uninjured. He was secured and taken to jail, as was also the woman, whose name is Dugan, and who is by no means ill-favored in appearance Her dusky paramour runs on the Diana, and be longs to one of the Frankfort Swigerts.

A CURIOUS CASE .-- Some two months since, a ma who kept a fancy shop on Fourth street, was badly whipped by a man whose wife had been insulted by the shop-keeper. The latter closed his store, left the city, and has never been back. A few days since he wrote to a person in this city, who was comparatively a stranger to him, to sell out his remaining stock and transmit the proceeds. On examining the money drawer in the store, the person who was acting as his agent found upwards of $200 in money, which the shop-keeper had left behind, and to which he made no reference in his instructions concerning his business. We are informed that he has not recovered from the injuries inflicted by the hus-

ARRESTED AND RELEASED.—George Howorth, an employee on the steamer Die Vernon, recently left the boat under circumstances that induced the belief he had stolen sundry teaspoons, table cloths, and other articles of minor value. He was arrested in Cincinnati, but on receiving information of his capture, the officers of the boat, thinking the matter not worth prosecuting, telegraphed to have him released.

Mob Law in Lincoln County—Murderer Arrested and Hung. We learn that a man named Jasper Rouzy was ung by a mob, near Stanford, Lincoln county, on Saturday morning last. Rouzy was a man of desperate character, and had in May last shot lames Oldham, in Milledgeville, Lincoln county. Although a heavy reward was offered for his apprehension, he remained at large until last Monday, when he was arrested at Bradfordsville, Ma rion county, and immediately conveyed to Stanford and lodged in jail. It is said that when arrested he desired to be killed on the spot, as he knew he would be hung if carried to Stanford.

On Saturday morning, about two o'clock, a mob f nearly one hundred persons collected around the jail, made an attack upon it, and seized the prisoner. They then conveyed him a short disance into the woods and hung him on a tree .-Before his execution he desired that his body might be given to his wife.

Whilst at large in Marion county, Rouzy comnitted numerous petty outrages, and was attempt ing to perpetrate a theft when finally arrested .-He has at last paid the forfeit of his crimes by an ignominious and terrible death.

LARGE ROBBERY-FLIGHT OF THE THIEF .- On Thursday evening R. Ragland, of Spence county, was robbed in Taylorsville, Ky., of $800 in money and nearly $2000 in notes of hand. He went into the barber shop of George Braum, and while resting his wearied limbs on a couch, fell into a slumber which lasted for several hours. When he awoke he discovered that his money was missing, and the barber too. The latter left in such a way that suspicion was naturally directed to him as the robber. He was pursue to this city, and policeman Bligh set on his track. Asleuth hound trailing its prey could not be more sure of its victim

On Saturday, the officer observed a man enter barber shop, on Third street, near the river, who suited the description. He followed in, not vet surprise, and unexpected. He had not sought it, sure of his man, and tipping a wink to the proprietor, said to the man: "Halloo! I thought left you in Taylorsville." "Why, yes," Braum, coloring, for it was him, "but I come down yesterday. Did you bring a drove of cat tle down?" He took Bligh for a cattle drover After learning where he boarded, the officer "pulled" his man, and conducted him to jail .-He had but $67 in money on his person. The stolen money was principally in $20 gold pieces Braum on Friday changed two pieces of gold of this denomination for paper money, at Peter Merkle's. A $5 bill of Ragland's money was found on him and identified. Braum will be returned to the Spencer county jail to day.

> THEATER .- The famous Ravels continue their ngagement for another week at the Theater, giving to-night two of their best pantomimes .-The full force of the company will be brought to bear on the first piece, which is entitled the "Golden Egg," and contains many of their finest tricks and transformations. Of course, Gabriel Ravel will have a large share of the humor of the performance, as in that line he is inimitable, and still bears off the palm, in spite of severe competition. The second piece is entitled "Le Diable a Quatre," in which most of the company join .-Mademoiselle Zanfretti will give her wonderful tight rope performance, which has excited the admiration and astonishment of every spectator. No woman in the world has ever equalled her performance, and no doubt she would compete successfully with Mons. Blondin, who has lately crossed Niagara river on a tight rope.

ROBBERY IN GRAY'S ALLEY .- Richard Vann has weakness like all men, and his is to potate. On Saturday, Dick, like him whose surname is Swiveller, passed "the rosy" often, and his worship at the shrine of Bacchus confused his ideas, and led him into the companionship of evil men .-These consisted of Pat. Holmes. John Noon and alley, where they imbibed, and one of Richard's boon companions, combining business with pleasure, abstracted his pocket book and $40 while they were drinking. Somewhat sobered by his loss, the victim sought Chief Ray, who arrested the trio upon his statement, the truth of which will be determined by judicial examination. The Thos. Hanley is in jail for alleged robber of his friend, who was stupidly drunk. The two came up on the Portland Railroad on Saturday or seven years since, the former in the Board of and on arriving at the Twelfth street terminus Thomas conducted his companion into an old shanty which was convenient. There, while his friend slumbered from the effects of numerous octations, Hanley, it is said, abstracted $4 in good noney from the pocket of said sleeper. At least on that charge he was committed to prison.

A negro girl with an admixture of Caucas ian blood in her veins, on Saturday, absconded from her master, C. F. Johnson, a Southener, who boards at one of our hotels. Pursuit was nade, and the girl was caught in Portland by Policeman Weatherford. She was dressed in boy's clothes when arrested, which were doubtless furnished her. It is suspected she was decover A DARK AFFAIR -On Saturday night, at a late off by some vicious white man for evil pur-

sian that a fatal rencounter took place in Hunts ville, Ark., on the 24th ult., wherein Forester Black, and Warren Sams, a merchant in Huntsville, were killed, and John Black and Dr. James Smithson, of Fayetteville, and Constable Moody and James Suns, of Huntsville, were severely wounded. Elias White, a free negro, was arrested or Saturday, on the steamboat J. K. Bell, for mor tally stabbing one Williams, a free negro, in Cir cinnati, several weeks since. A policeman from that place told him the man was dead, and the saucy rascal said, "I don't care a d-n; it don't interest me any." He will go to the Queen City to-day in charge of an officer.

Peter Fox, a stone mason, was drowned while bathing in the river at this point on Satur day night. It is supposed he was affected with cramp. He has a family in St. Louis. Thos. Lowry, an omnibus driver, was drowned near the ferry landing, in Jeffersonville, on Saturday even ing. The bodies of both men were recovered.

A FEARFUL FALL .- We learn from the clerk of the steamboat Moses McLellan, that a ma named Walker fell from a third story window of a house in Columbus, Ky., on Thursday evening and met instant death by the fall. It was at meeting of Odd Fellows, and it was probably the odge room from where he fell.

We learn from the Bowling-Green Stand ard, that the house in which one of its editors-Mr. Gannaway - resided, belonging to Frank Cook, Esq., was destroyed by fire on Thursday night last. Mr. Cook's loss is about one thousand dollars. Mr. Gannaway lost all his househol furniture, clothing, &c.

How much longer the present war in Italy wil continue, none can tell. At the last accounts the French had crossed the Mincio with a view, no doubt, to attacking the Austrian fortification which form the historic square. We have already spoken of these fortifications, and said that the must be carried before the French and the Sardin ians can be the masters of the Austrian posses sions in Italy. That the Allies will take these fortifications, we do not doubt, but it will re quire eminent strategy and hard fighting to do so without an enormous loss of life. The nex steamer will, no doubt, bring the tidings of an assault upon both Peschiera and Mantua either designed, undertaken or accomplished, and we shall await the news with great anxiety.

"FAINT HEART NE'ER WON FAIR LADY." -- Th Portland-ers have a rich theme for gossip, in this wise: Yesterday was the day set for the man riage of a young couple whose claims to respects to be had fitted himself with his elegant broad cloth, and the young lady's bridal wardrobe was complete. But she did not array herself in bridal robes yesterday, and he who anticipated it as the happiest day of his life, was encased in doubt and perplexity, not broadcloth. This is the cause. On Saturday night another man, alike youthful, who had played suitor for the fair lady's hand, persuaded her that he was the properest man, and said the proposed wedding should not be. He beseiged her with the arms of love and with success, for she yielded to him the citadel of her heart. At least there was no wedding yesterday. Moral: "There's many a slip ter named Spelts was found one day last week in a tree top, some sixty feet from the ground, sus-pended by the neck. It was thought from the appearance of the body, that it had been there for several days. Spelts, according to the state-ments of the men now in our jail for the atments of the men now in our jail for the attempted robbery and murder of Deppa, a few weeks ago, is the third one of their party, the one who at the time made his escape, and the one who is supposed to have killed Mr. Deppa. By some means the rope was thrown over a limb of a high tree, one end tied around the neck of the victim, and the other end, after Spelts had been drawn up to the desired hight, tied around the trunk. Who hung Spelts we presume will remain a mystery.—Spencer County (Ind.) Journal.

ABDUCTION OF A GIRL.—A girl about twelve years old, Laura Garrett, was abducted or enticed away from Newport, Kentucky, where her relatives reside, night before last, and taken, it is supposed, to a bagnio in this city. The idea of a child like her becoming the inmate of a brothel is horrible indeed.—Cin. Enq., 9th.

The Cincinnati Gazette reports a sale of 10,000 bushels prime white wheat, deliverable all next week in the neighborhood of Paris, Ky., at about equal to $1 28 at Cincinnati For later delivery this price could not be realized. The indications are, receipts within the next three weeks will be large, chiefly from Kentucky.

THE WAR.

[Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Commercial.] Further Details of Foreign News—How the Army Moves—The Secrecy of the Emperor—Frepara-tions for Taking the Quaarolateral.

The following is from Russell's latest letter:

Brescra, June 19.—The march of the Allies is not unlike the movements of a gigantic bos constrictor following its prey. Coil after coil of its enormous body rolls forward in uninterrupted succession, until it suddenly stops. The prey must be near, for it entwines its coils as close as its massive mobility admits as if its massive mobility admits, as if preparing for the spring. This is just at this moment the atti-tude. The mass of the body close together, and at rest apparently, and only the head stretched at rest apparently, and only the bear sthe con-out, as if to measure the distance. It is the con-centration of strength and energy before employ-centration of strength and energy before employ-See advertisement of country board ing it. The greatest part of the army is collected within a comparatively small space, from which it can throw itself, in a mement's notice, in any direction where its presence might be required. A council of war is held to-day, to determine this, or rather to discuss the matter, for there is only one person who decides, and that is the Commander-in-Chief of the Allied armies, and sudden and unexpected are these decisions To be sure, nobody knows where he will pass the night. Nobody knows where he is going. The order comes at the last moment, and every one ust be off.

This secrecy is so striking, that there is in the army a saying, "It fait la guerre en conspirateur," and the saying is true enough. No conspirator ever kept his plans closer. Indeed, now and then movements and counter-movements are made, people think, especially to mislead and puzzle all calculations. Of one thing you may be certain, however, that the famous quadrilateral had been the object of study long before the war commenced. Its strength is not underrated, and means are provided accordingly, adequate to the work. What these means are, of course, you don't expect me to tell. But you may prepar yourself for something astonishing and most un

THE TRIBUNE ON THE WAR NEWS The Tribune sums up the news from the war as

"The England, as well as here, seems to have been that the allies would not fight a great battle until the corps of Prince Napoleon, marching from Tuscany, had arrived to attack the Austrians in the rear, while it was supposed a flotilla would be launched on the lake of Garda to enable the allies also to make a flank attack in that quarter. Naoleon III has, however, waited for none of these things, but has fought and won the fight. It is also evident, from the correspondence from the allied camp, of which we elsewhere give all that is important, that to fight was the only practica-ble course. Delay would have checked the victo-rious impulse of the allied troops, and would have given the Austrians opportunities to beat them by superiority in numbers in small encounters.— In the movements of the Austrian army the same vascillating indecision is apparent under Schlick, which had before resulted in the defeat and dis-They at first prepared for battle on the line from

Lonato to Castiglione, San Cassiano, Carriana and Volta. Here a plateau gradually rises toward the Lake and the Mincio, offering a succession of excellent positions, each stronger and more concentrated than the preceding one, so that the conquest of the edge of the plateau would not constitute a victory, but only the first set of a not constitute a victory, but only the first act of a battle. Their right wing was covered by the Lake. Their left was drawn back considerably, leaving unguarded nearly ten miles of the line of the Mincio. But this, instead of being a disad-vantage, was, in fact, the finest feature of the position, from the circumstance that beyond the Mincio lay the dangerous ground enclosed between the four fortresses into which an enemy could not venture unless he possessed a great nu-merical superiority. The line of the Mincio being mmanded at its southern extremity by Mantua in the position on the plateau, with contempt, by marching past them toward the Mincio, would soon have been brought to a stand still. The advancing army would have seen its com-nunications annihilated without being able to indanger those of the Austrians. But the most dangerous part of such a move would have been, that it must have been done under the eyes of the Austrians on the plateau, who would have nothing to do but set their whole line in motion and fall upon the straggling columns of the enemy fall upon the straggling columns of the enemy, from Volta upon Jeito, from Carriana upon Guizolo and Ceresara, from Castiglione upon Castel, Geffredo and Montechiaro. Such a battle would have been fought by the allies under tremendous disadvantage; and might have ended in a second Austerlitz, with the parts reversed.— Such was the position which the Austrians had assumed, and they had it in the further advantage of knowing the whole ground, from the fact that for years it has been the scene of their annual army exercises carried out upon the largest scale. As we have said, it was carefully prepared for the eason that, in a military point of view, is utter y inexplicable, they abandoned the ground, and etreated bag and baggage across the Mincio, in the plan of the campaign had anything to do with the action of Prussia, which power is said to consider the quadrangle of the Mincio and Adige as in some sort a part of the defenses of Germany, is a question on which we may hope for more light hereafter. One thing, however, is that her attitude must prevent Louis Napoleon from drawing many more troops from France to Italy. As our readers are already aware, that ower has mobolized six out of her nine army power has motorized six out of her him army corps—that is, she has called into service the Landwehr, consisting of soldiers belonging to those corps which, having completed three years of regular service, are discharged on indefinite furlough. Of these six army corps, five are to take a position on the lower and middle Rhine. Thus some one hundred and seventy thousand Prussians must at about the present date be in line between Coblentz and Mentz; and, no doubt, two other Federal corps, that of Bavaria, and that of Baden Wurtemberg and Hesse Darmstadt, will also take their position in Baden and the Palatinate, making one hundred to one hundred and twenty thousand men in addition. Against such forces, Napoleon III will require almost every man now at his disposal in France. In this case, he may find it advisable to have re-course to a Hungarian insurrection, and to the services of Kossuth, though we may be pretty sure that he will not call such agencies into requi-sition until he is compelled. That Prussia now actually intends to take part in the war is very doubtful, but it will not be so easy for her to avoid it. Her military system, by naking soldiers of the whole adult able-bo population, puts such a strain upon the nation from the moment the Landwehr even of the first evy is called out, that the country cannot affor to stand by with arms grounded for any length of time. At the present moment, all able-bodied males from twenty to thirty-two years of age, are under arms, in six provinces out of eight. The derangement caused by this in the whole com-mercial and industrial organization of Prussia is enormous, and the country can only stand it on condition that the men are led before the enemy without delay. The men themselves could no without delay. The men themselves could have stand it. In a couple of months the whole army would be in a state of mutiny. Besides this, the national feeling is running so high in Germany, that Prussia, now that she has gone so far, cannot retreat. The recollections of the peace of Basle, and of the irresolution of 1805 and 1806, and of the Confederation of the Rhine, are still a vivid that the Germans are determined net to so vivid, that the Germans are determined net to allow themselves now to be beaten siz gly by their wary opponent. The Prussian Government cannot master this feeling. It may attempt to direct it, but if it does so, it is bound hand and foot to the movement, and every trace of wavering will be considered as treason, and will recoil upon the gotiation, but all parties are now so engaged that no road out of the labyrinth appears open in any [Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati Gazette.] The correspondent of the London Times writes As I had mentioned Garibaldi and his corps, it will perhaps interest you to hear how he came from Bergamo to Brescia. The Austrians had scarcely withdrawn from Bergamo, when a messenger was caught on the road who brought orders from the headquarters to hold Bergamo at any price, if it had not been given up yet. It would have been rather awkward had the order come before, for Garibaldi, without any cannon, would scarcely have thought of attacking the Austrians in a town enclosed by high ramparts. is In the meantime, Garbaid went after the Austrians, who were retiring towards Bressia. In order to mislead them, he turned down towards Bomano, which is close to the high road from Milan to Brescia. The Austrians followed too far the road to Bressia.

They had scarcely gone off on that seent, when Garbaidt turned again to the north, and, making

They had scarcely gueen to the north, and, making a march of 45 miles in less than 24 hours, appeared before and in Brescia, before the Austrians had the remotest idea of his whereabouts.

How little they knew, appears from the fact that the Major attached as Chief d'Etat Major to General Urban's division, was caught with several orderlies in the town of Brescia, into which he had come from the neighborhood, never suspecting the presence of Garibaldi's corps.

The most beautiful thing, however, was that while the main body went in all haste to Brescia, twenty-four men went part in two omnibuses, the two officers commanding them, Col. Turr and Major Comozzi, following in little two-wheeled carts of the country, and the whole went off to the Lake Iseo, and raising sail, cannonaded Ica. The people rose immediately and some 4,500 stand of arms were ready, with which the National Guard was armed.

containing a shirt and perhaps a pair of socks, is the only baggage which officers or men have.—
They make war according to Sir Charles Napier's ideas. They have good boots, with leather gaiters up to the middle of the leg. The trowsers rather loose, and stuck into the gaiters. A short tunic, of light gray linen, and over it a gray coat, reaching down to the knees, a light cap and the rifle complete the accourrement. There is no difference in this respect between officers and men. If, as is natural after such marches, things are worn out, the inhabitants of the first town in are worn out, the inhabitants of the first town in which they appear, give, of their own free will, ten times more than they want. The troops have thus such plenty that the government never even thinks of supplying any of their wants.

The correspondent of the New York Times says
"What will Garibaldi do next?" is the question Hitherto his march has been mark on every lip. Hitherto his march has been mark-ed by the fact that the Austrians have always fied before him, and the Allies followed after him, but now that the final crash must come, what next will be assigned the Guerrilla Chief? Either he must join the Allies in their regular operations—per-haps be set to capture the Austrian vessels of Lake Garda; or, ascending along the Val Sabbia, he will fling himself into the Tyrol, and calling upon the inhabitants to arise, force his way to the Venetian Alps. This course would, I suppose, furnish the German Confederation with an excuse for an armed intervention. Whether Napoleon will consent to this, remains to be seen. He will best consult his own interests by giving Gariboldi full scope to carry out his own audacious plans.

THE DIFFICULTIES IN THE POPE'S DOMINIONS. The Paris correspondent of the Daily News (London) says that the bloody conflict at Perugia, between the Pope's Guards and the people, is considered in government circles as a deplorable event, and tends to increase the difficulty of pre-serving the temporal dominion of the Pope. The Romans claim the benefit of the Emperor Napoleon's Milan proclamation, that the French army shall not interfere with the manifestation of their legitimate wishes. Unless the Swiss shall be supported by French troops, nothing is more likely than that they will be driven out of Perugia by an overwhelming national force.

Prof. Wise Accounts for the Failure of his Balloon Yoyage, and Defines His Position. [Special Dispatch to the Cincinnati NEW YORK, July 8.

Mr. Wise, the balloonist, has written a letter, which will app which he says: will appear in to morrow's Tribune,

"There is a current of air blowing from east to west continually, and this current runs never less than fifty miles an hour—oftener sixty, seventy, and eighty. Prof. Henry thinks it is the return current of the trade, winds. As we ascend higher in the current it runs faster, until we find it changing a little south of east; the lower current near the earth runs toward the worth near the earth runs toward the north of east. I have found these currents at all times of the year, from the 1st of April to the 12th of December.— In my correspondence with Chas. Green, of London, a scientific zeronaut of much experience, I learn from him that these currents exist likewise in Europe. From my experience of finding them thirty-nine times out of forty trials, I contend that regular and precise voyages can be made from west to east, and to places 15 and 20 de-grees north of east from the point of starting— Why, then, is it asked, did we not sail to New York and deliver our express bag? It is a very rational inquiry, and deserves a rational explana-tion. It could have been done, and should have een done. The reason why it was not done is some of our party did not provide themselve with extra clo th extra clothing. Immediately after leaving St. Louis I took the balloon to an altitude at which she was making due east. In this current we sailed until some of ny companions shivered with cold so that the quivered with the tremor. I also told them that the lower current would take us on the Lakes, as it was coming from the southwest; but to this it was answered that we could cross the Lakes if we had ballast enough when we got to them. We finally agreed upon that plan, and to make the voyage one of distance and experi ments. My purpose was simply to make a long voyage from west to east, and in that voyage learn what may be done systematically with balloons. I am now convinced that we can go from St. Louis to Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York city with balloons, with system and precision. I hold, and am ready to demonstrate as soon as I can raise six thousand dollars, that we can sail from any city to Great Britain with system and precision. This we can do with our present knowledge of ballooning. All I ask is a fair chance, a little more experience, two or three

An exhibition of a very remarkable and unnat ural character attracted a small but high vening last. A young man by the name of Jas Steavens, had advertised that he would do many Steavens, had advertised that he would do many wonderful things in the way of cutting himself up with knives, nailing his feet, arms and legs to chairs, to the wall, &c., which astounding exploits he proceeded to exhibit at the appointed hour, in rity, including members of the Medical Faculty of Transylvania University, and other learned Pro-fessors, who were invited to the stand, that they might detect any fraud or deception, if practised. He began by sticking a handful of pins, up to the head into his legs, then drove an awl through the middle of his wrist into a chair; drove a knife through the muscle of his leg; nailed his foot to a wooden shoe, the nail or awl passing through the middle of the foot, and so walked about the stage; cut his dexter finger through the fleshy part, exhibiting the naked bone, and concluded by passing a knife through his cheek, the blade protruding from his mouth. In all this but very little ood was drawn. He also offered to drive blood was drawn. He also offered to drive a knife through each leg and hang himself from the wall, which the audience mercifully excused him from doing, feeling satisfied that he could ac-complish whatever he proposed. About the whole procedure there was no sort of humburg, as the eyes of divers gentlemen, who were upon the stand, were steadily fixed upon him, and any "anbelieving Thomas"—had an opportunty to touch the knife blade on the opposite side to that nto which it had been thrust, of the leg, wrist or and. He used a few galvanic rings about his person, which was probably more for show that anything else, as they could effect nothing. Mr. Steavens looks to be not more than twenty or twenty-one years of age. Before closing, he proposed to operate in a similar manner upon any one of the audience, agreeing to forfeit $1000 if he inflicted pain. This, however, was prudently declined. We saw this man of leather early yesterder. terday morning, looking as fresh and whole, as though knife or nail had never penetrated his elastic body.—Lex. Obs. and Rep.

LETTER FROM ONE OF GARIBALDI'S MEN TO TH EDITOR OF THE ISRABLITE IN THIS CITY .- Dr. berg, who went with Garibaldi's men all the way from the Ticino to Lake Gards, has written a letter to Dr. Wise, his personal friend, editor of the Israelite in this city. Dr. W. does not pub-

The following is a passage from this letter: Lombardy, Parma, the States of the Church and the best part of Modens, are cleared of the Austrians. They have sustained a heavier loss Austrans. They have sustained a heavier loss in fame, men and portable property than is commonly known, for they are driven to their last post in Italy, to remain on the defensive long enough to give the allied armies time to take Mantus. Peschiera most likely is now in the hands of the Sardinians. Garibaldi is now in the position to take possession of the two railroad lines centering in Verona, and certainly will shortly accomplish the feat. Prince Napoleon comes from Tuscany with 25,000 to 35,000 troops, to clear Modena of the Austrians, and operate comes from ruscally with 20,000 to 30,000 troops, to clear Modena of the Austrians, and operate east of Mantua and Verona in connection with Garibaldi. Prince Napoleon's march will be from Modena and Reggio to Mirandala, Padua and Vincenza, in the rear of Mantua and Verona. Garibaldi will start north form Peschiera, go north on the eastern shore of the Garda Lake, dankle Verona and units with Prince Napoleon. connection with a naval demonstration some-where about Venice, will and must result in the entire occupation of the province of Venice by the allied forces, while the Austrians will be stored away in Mantua and Verona.

The Journal's Witnesses Against Magoffin. The Louisville Journal is very much troubled about Magoffin's position on the slavery question The editor don't understand how such protection papers as the Louisville Courier, Maysville Express, and Paducah Herald can support Beriah.. He considers Magoffin a straight-out, anti-protection, squatter sovereignty Democrat, who would rather inaugurate civil war in this country than to ask Congress to protect slavery in the Torriteries. He uses the following language with regard to our candidate for Gubernatorial honors:

Mr. Magotfin has defined his position unequiv He now proclaims, and proclaims emphatically, that sooner than have Congress interpose for the protection of the adjudicated rights of slave property in the Territories of the United States, he would invoke civil war—would inaugurate the terrible rule of the rifle and the urate the terrible rule of the rifle and the bayo

Here is what Magoffin says : "That Congress has the power to protect while it cannot prombit slavery in the Territories; that the Territorial Legislature, as its agent, cannot exclude or abolish slavery, directly or ind rectly, by untriendly legislation; that such legislation is yold, and would be declared unconstitutional by the Federal courts; that it is the duty of the Ter torial Legislature to protect slave property, and property of all kinds; that the rights of property of all kinds are under the protection of the govern-ment, the Constitution and the laws; that our rights and remedies seem to be now complete in the Territories, and nothing has occurred to show their inadequaey; that the Democratic party has brought us to this position of safety against all the efforts of the Opposition, entertaining differ-ent opinions on the subject, and forming combi-nations to destroy it that the attraction nations to destroy it; that the struggles and vice tories over other parties have clearly shown that ours is the only party capable of protecting our rights, or guarding them in the future; and if it necessary to pass laws to enforce the de crees of the judiciary, or even to call out troops, that it would be the duty of the government to do say, that we believe Magoffin to be much sounder them in one place, which loosens their fastenings on the slavery question than Bell. It is our opin- | in another. ion that Bell, if not an Emancipationist, is a man of decided emancipation proclivities, while Magoffin is beyond all question a true pro-slavery man. Bell did all he could to elect Aylett Buckner to Congress, when Buckner was known to be in favor of excluding slavery from Utah and New fin never, to our knowledge, took such a step as will. Congress in the Sixth District:

There is no man who can show a purer record on the rights of the South and the power of Congress to legislate for the protection of those rights than Green Adams.

Well, now, let us look a little into the pure record of this gentleman on the rights of the South. The following quotations from what he said in Congress while he was a member of the House of Representatives, will suffice to show that he is not sound on the slavery question and the rights of the South. that he is not sound on the slavery question and

I am not disposed to maintain that slavery in the abstract is right, when tested by the great principle of right and wrong; nor will I contend that slavery, relatively speaking, is right or expedient.

J. E. Gibson is the Democratic candidate for the Senate in the Thirty-eighth district, composed of the counties of Clay, Harlan, Owsley, Letcher, Perry, and Breathist.

I utterly repudiate this doctrine of a man's carrying the civil institutions of his own country into whatever State, Territory, or country he may go. It is subversive of the just and necessary rules of national law, upon which the comity of nations is based. Who, sir, will deny the doctrine of international law, that when a person emigrates from one country to another, or even takes up a temporary residence, that, of justice and necessity, he must be obedient to the laws and institutions of the country in which he is residing at the time and from which he expects

Here, then, is a part of the pure record of this pro-slavery man, who is the Journal's beau ideal of a friend to the South. Is it possible that a true friend to the South can believe it wrong and inexpedient to hold slaves? Can a true friend to the South vote against striking the Wilmot Proviso from the organic act establishing a territorial government? Would a friend on whom the South could rely advise a President not to veto the Wilmot Proviso? And finally, can he be a friend to the South who holds that Southerners cannot go with their slaves into Territories of the United States because he and the Emigrant Aid Societies of the North are pleased to denominate the public domain free soil? Away with all such friends to the South. Abolitiondom, and Black they will, no doubt, be found agreeable to Col. The Journal on Holt and other Matters. The Journal, to prove Col. Holt a political sinner, like other polemics, goes back to "original sin" and the fall of Adam. It tries to avoid our punishment by punning. This won't do, however. From the first Governor Adam of Eden, to the last Governor Adams of South Carolina, is a long jump, but, then, the editor gives all creation a side-wiper as he goes. Soft-shells and Corwin, Blanton Duncan and Icarus, Douglas and fig leaves, &c., &c. He may prove "original sin" on Col. It certainly was s misfortnne that Andrew Jackson Donelson, Sumner and Wilmot, and others of a like kidney ever call them "the fruits of the Democracy." But if it is responsible for all of these as its fruits," in about two years more, the Journal by that time having abandoned the "Opposition' and joined the "Proposition" or "Composition" party, will be charging the Democracy with the sins of Joshua Bell or S. S. Nicholas. We prophecy the "Proposition" party because we suppose it will be based on that proposition, for all men to unite without a sacrifice of principle on the part of any-Giddings included. But "Composition" would not be a bad name either, when we recollect the construction of Nebuchadnezzer's statue. No! Hale, and Wilmot, and Company, were stray goats that come over from the left into the sheep pen and were turned out. But, thank

Col. Holt seems to trouble the Journal very much. It gave him another splashing last Friday. It is quite willing to drop the issue between Col. Holt and his prosecutor. It has, perhaps, on reconsideration, concluded that "what is sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander." It attempted to fix Abolitionism on Col. Holt, because he did not engage in an attempt to keep California out of the Union until she would come in as a slave State. But he could not answer the question whether he would not have acted exactly as Col. Holt did in the premises. He tried to avoid the answer on the ground that he is not a Kentuckian born. But, we assure him, we are not for any limitation of the franchise of speaking the truth out in meeting. He has a constitution al right to do so. But if he doubts it, we will naturalize him. We always were opposed to these Know Nothing restrictions. We assure him, if he will speak right out, no one shall hurt him. We regret that we frightened him so badly about it that he had to drop the subject, and if Now, all we have to say, in reply to this, is that we can only coax and cajole him into one hearty Magoffin has defined his own position on the outburst of his true and real sentiments on the slavery question touching the Territories. He subject, we will forgive him some of his shorthas set forth his position in his own words, which comings in politics. We suspect that if Colonel have been published in every paper in the State. Holt's critic were to answer the question squarely, he would say that he would not have gone for ditional proviso that all of Utah and New Mexico should be made into free States.

We find the Courier supporting Col. Holt for Congress, who declared himself ready and "willing, God knows! to vote for Douglas" on his record, after the publication of the letter.—Lou.

Col. Holt put in an important proviso which you omit. He said he would support Douglas if he was the nominee of the Charleston Conven tion. What, then, are the chances of Douglas being supported by Holt? Will Douglas retract his Freeport speech? Or will the Charleston Convention nominate Douglas with his insulting letter besore it? We think Col. Holt may safely say he will support Douglas when he is nominated by the Charleston Convention, for Douglas will either have to stand square on the slavery platform that will be demanded of We prefer then this declaration of Mr. Magoffin | that Convention, or not be nominated. COL. BOYD AT HOME.—Hon. Linn Boyd, accom panied by his family, reached his home near this city yesterday morning. The trip from Philadel-phia to Cincinnati was made by railroad, and from Cincinnati to Paducah by steamboat. The journey by railroad was made by the Colone Mexico, at the very time too when he could, if elected to Congress, vote on the subject. Magofthe trip well, and is decidedly improved by it.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION being primarily belonged to it, but it is a little too impudent to and essentially due to a disordered nutrition, can be rationally attacked only by a medicine which repovates the nutritive powers. Such a medicine is the PERUVIAN SYRUP, whose chief ingredient acts directly and immediately on the blood, and arrests the disease safely and surely.

BALTIMORE, July 15, 1854. I was suffering with a severe Catarrhal Cough, eccompanied by Night Sweats, Loss of Appetite, and great Debility, which was daily increasing In this state I commenced taking the Peruvian Syrup. In a few days, and before I had used the second bottle, my cough lessened, night sweats ceased, appetite was restored, and with it strength and vigor beyond what I had enjoyed for ten years, being able to walk several miles each day without fatigue, while hitherto I could walk only a short distance. A NEW SEIRT THAT HAS NO EQUAL .- J. M. Rob ason & Co. have just introduced a new article, the Woven Extension Skeleton Skirt, with adjustable watch spring bustle-made without a stich or clasp of any kind. They will be found to obviate the great objections to metalic-fastened, or sewed skirts, which are continually cutting the tapes or ripping, the hoops, by this new method, being woven in where the tapes are made. They will, no doubt, soon supercede all others, as they will prove to be the most durable skirt ever yet offered, and as low as any made of the BEST tempered watch spring steel.

It is understood that uniform passages of eighteen days will be made from New York to San Francisco.

The India Rubber Case.

BALTIMORE, July 9.—The great India rubber case of Horace H. Day and others against John Stillman, is now on trial in the U. S. Circuit Court, in this city, before Judge Giles. This case, with others involving the same issues, is now under-going a final hearing, before going to the Supreme Court of the U.S., on claim of plaintiff to the exclusive right to manufacture and sell what is technically known as woven elastic India rubber goods. A preliminary injuction had previously been granted in all the cases in this district, and the argument now pending is to have a perma-nent injunction issued, wholly restraining the defendants from vending vulcanized rubber goods.

Farther Point Station. Montreal, July 9.—A private letter from R. Admission 25 cents; Children and Servants 15 cent jy11 d2* from 9 A. M. till 10 P. M.

A certain Cure for Fever and Ague, Remittent and Intermittent Fever, and all Billious Complaints.

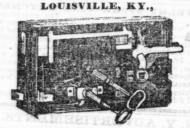

IT is a well known fact that the different fevers and billious complains are caused by the poisonous issue and exhalations from the surface of the earth which are taken into the system by respiration. T neutralise this subtle poison and counteract its effect upon the system, is therefore what we have to aim as nd with this view the "French Tropical Fever and Agu Mixture" has been prepare i.

The high reputation which this medicine has gained within so short a time in the South and West where is has been introduced, is a sufficient proof for its super rity above all other compounds of the samo kind.

As an antidote to malaria, this medicine stands un rivalled; and as it is purely vegetable, it can be safel given to children and cell cate patients, not only in cas fever, but in all cases where a good tonic is re-The French Tropical Fever and Ague Mixture is pre-pared by B. S. R. PORTER, in soliciting the patronage of the inhabitasis of this city and the community at large, in the ab we business, begs to invite attention to a few plain facts in connection with the art of Boot and Shoe making, and more particularly to the fitting of the same, being fully convinced that the pains and inconveniences under which so many persons suffer, arises from unequal ressure on certain portions of the feet, which causes corns, bunnious, and other unnatural formations of the foot, which may be removed with due attention to the formation of the boot or shoe.

S. R. Porter guarantees a good and easy fit, each article being made under his own superintendence. It is an indisputable fact that corns and bundlons are caused by unequalled pressure on the foot, consequently boots or shees not fitting properly will produce them if the boot or she therefore be not formed according to the position of the foot, when the weight of the body presses upon it here must of necessity be an unequal pressure, which, with the friction occasioned by walking, irritates and produces those afflictions, hence it is from the boots or shees not fitting the foot properly, a defect solely to be attributed to the manufacturer who may not possess sufficient knowledge of his business that has caused the many to suffer from the ignorance of the few, both in health and wealth—in the former instance by pains occasioned by corns, &c., and in the latter by compel ing persons to cut their boots and shoes to give ease, or sacrifice such articles before they are half worn out, and inflicting a grevious wrong upon the public at large. In regard to that essential point, the properly fitting of the foot, but making ought to be regarded as an important science, although it is generally considered as a very simple business. This arises f om the great number of boot and shoe sellers not manufacturers, because many, very many, who sell those articles are not in the slightest degree acqualated with the making of either, and many of the articles sold in such are not in the slightest degree acquainted with the king of either, and many of the articles sold in shops are frequently made from the one last, as if all feet were precisely the same sha e, a thing as utterly impossible as it is one two persons with precisely the same features. The fact is, they are made for sale, and the comfort of the purchaser is not in the slightest de gree attended to, while the material is frequently of the

This dolce far niente—well, is it not truly sweet and delicious?—never to read, except, of course, "Hyperion," and "Dream-Life," and "Graziella," write no letters; make no noon toilattas and Hickman. write no letters; make no noon toilettes; repudiate all conventionalities that should not exist where the birds sing, and the grass waves, glittering with dew-diamonds, and the leaves rustle to breezes that come pure and freshening from the full-foliaged mountains.

Yes, how sweet it is "with half-shut eyes ever We Nelson, No;

to seem falling asleep in a half-dream," under the shade of a grand old oak, "thick leaved and ambrosial," we recline on the scented grass. The sun sinks in the West; the dews fall softly; the flowers give out their sweetest fragrance; the stars come out in golden beauty. We are dreaming. "The wind breathes with low mellower tone, and in sweet harmony mingles the saddest, soft est strain from "Lucia di Lammermoor."

"Music that gentler on the spirit lies, Than tired eyelids on tired eyes," How tenderly sweet! Dreamingly, softly it floats on the evening air, blending with the sweet fancies and dim memories of the hour, entrancing the senses—the soul raptured. Oh! decious echo of whispered dreams.

But, I am unselfish (?) enough to come out o dream-land and gossip with my city friends, and urge them to repair instanter to this lotus land, and share with me the delicious joys that beguile the hours at Estill. Radiantly and luxuriously June has blossome into July, crowning with rare beauties our Utopian retreat. All over the fields the nearly elder flowers are blooming, and the air is redolent of new mown hay. Down in the valleys the lilies wave on the banks of bright little streams, that sing soft summer songs. On the cliffs the ferns "shake their green heads in the wind," and the lack berries are in prime flavor.

In doors, bright faces and genial spirits make sunshine and beauty. The days, quietly happy, are closed by the cherry "hop" in the ball-room. Rhinebold's famous band discourses delicious music. The season promises to be particularly brilliant and gay. In addition to the pleasent company already assembled, numbers of charming people are heralded. While Sirius reigns, who can stay in the city, when such an inviting and accessible retreat opens its trellised portals and offers all summer pleasures?

To day, "the glorious Fourth," is celebrated in orthodox style in the near-by village. The pyrotechnical displays may not be very imposing or brilliant, but I am quite sure there might be some charming orations from the young villagers, for I have never seen more capacity and culture in Young America than in this little town of Irvine. How the Fourth was Celebrated in Oldham [Corrrespondence of the Louisville Courier.]

WESTPORT, Ky., July 8, 1859.

Editors Louisville Courier: The patriotic citizens of Westport and vicinity, unwilling that the glorious Fourth should pass over without suitable manifestations in honor of that day, our "National Sabbath," determined upon giving an "old fashioned Kentucky barbeoue," in the real "Old Kentucky" style, and, no sooner was it con-"Old Kentucky" style, and, no sooner was it con-ceived than it became a "fixed fact." No discrimination nor distinction, all were invited and cordially welcomed to participate in the fes-

Conspicuous amongst our public spirited citiens, Dr. John M. Taylor, R. Lee, Dr. N. G. Duern, T. B. Pinkston, A. Lawrence, Jas. Garriott, 7. M. Rice, &c., took the affair in hand, and most ithfully and satisfactorily did they acquit them-The beautiful grove selected for the occasion, the property of our townsman, Wm. A. Crider, Esq., was all that could be desired. An extensive arber for the devotees of Terpsichore, and every conceivable necessary arrangement were in readiness. The morning was truly invi-ting—the air cool and bracing, and the sun rose with more than its usual gorgeous magnificence, burnishing hill and dale, mountain and valley with its golden bues. At an early hour the surrounding hills reverberated to the sound of martial music, and by 9 o'clock the n-gathering commenced, and carriages and wagons, pedestrians and equestrians, wagons, pedestrians and equestrians, crowded every high-way and by-way leading to our pleasant little village, so beautifully situated on the banks of ta belle reviere, and thence to the picturesque and charming grounds. By 10 o'clock the spacious and beautiful grove was alive with animated nature. Banners floated in the breeze, and the dying cadences of sweet music filled the and the dying cadences of sweet music filled the air. The programme was announced by the chief marshal, Dr. R. H. G. Duerson. The reading the Declaration of Independence, by Colonel F. Evans, was a creditable performance, and the prefatory remarks were appropriate and in go taste. Of the oration, by Col. Ben. Selby, of l grange, we must not attempt a description. feel too sensibly our inability to do anything like justice to this masterly effort of Col. Selby, who grasped the subject with a master's hand, and ld the listless attention of his large audie for more than fifty minutes by his beautiful and thrilling eloquence, and bold and rich imagery.—Suffice, it was in his happiest vein. Dinner not being ready, "music arose with its oluptuous swell," and the "poetry of motion"

"A thousand hearts beat happily," and "Soft eyes looked love to eyes which spake again, And all went merry as a marriage bell."

The daughters of Oldham were alone in their ory, having no competitors from the adjoining counties. They were contending with their sisters, and felt no rivalry. "On went the dance," as "bright the sun shone o'er fair women and brave men." Miss Sue B., of Saltille, so winning in her manners as and blive. winning in her manners, so sylph-like and grace-ful, if not the center of attraction, she at least there is Miss T. T., of L. G., a dangerous competitor, and although it would be impossible to outrival the former, who is not inferior in the graces of the dance, nor mental culture, and withal has as beautiful a pair of eyes as I ever beheld. There goes Miss B., also of L. G., to take her place in the dance. Her dress is plain, but in exquisite taste; her figure faultless, and her every move is the personification of elegance and grace; a bevy of beaux are around her, and their looks would warrant the belief that she was the sun of their terrestial heaven. "On goes the dance." Never assembled in woodland green a gayer nor a happier crowd. Our young bachelor friend, "the Major," (we have but one Major in Oldham) is holding sweet converse with the viacious Miss C., who attracts much attention, and is one of the prettiest dancers on the ground.

At $\frac{2}{2}\cdot\text{clock}$ the music ceased. The sumptuous repast is enjoyed, and again "on goes the dance" with renewed energy, life and animation. Couspicuous among those who moved with queenly elegance and grace through the mazes of the dance, were Miss N. R., as lovely and lovable a woman as one meets with in a month's travel; also Miss Lucia M., and Jennie P. Amid so many forms of human loveliness and beauty, where there is so much to claim our admiration, we feel in particularizing some, that we have done an in-justice to others. To the married ladies, as well as single, who did not participate in the dance, but who graced the control of the dance, as single, who did not participate in the dance, but who graced the occasion with their presence, and who greatly contributed to the enjoyment and pleasure of the day, we all feel greatly indebted, and tender our acknowledgments. At 6 o'clock in the beautiful greve where all day long music and myrth resounded, unbroken silence reigned. The day passed off without a single incident to mar the enjoyment of any.

At night, a gay assemblage collected at the hospitable residence of R. Lee, Esq., and "tripped on the light fantastic toe" until the "wee hours of morning." Thus was the 4th observed in "WESTPORT."

OAKLAND FOR OWENSBORO To-DAY .- The swift packet Oakland has changed her days of depart-ure to Owensboro and all way places to Monday, instead of Tuesday. She has been fitted up expressly for the trade, and for the accommodati sengers and shippers along the route, and eing in charge of young men, favorites in the trade, who are always polite, attentive and ac commodating. Their enterprise should be en-couraged. She is in charge of Capt. Smorzka, with Mack Huston in the office. The Jennie Whipple arrived at Memphis

Friday, from Little Rock, Arkansas river. She reports the Medora in port for Fort Smith; Virginia Belle undergoing repairs, and Lady Walton putting in new machinery to enter the Memphis and Little Rock trade. Saracen and Little Rock laid up for the season. Arkansas river falling fast all the way to the mouth; crops as fine as ever were seen.

ACCIDENT .- We learn from the Memphis papers of last Friday, that the Alice Vivian blew cylinder head when about twenty miles above New Orleans, on her trip up. The engineer on watch, and one or two firemen, were scalded, but we could not learn the extent of their injuries No other damage was done. The Imperia brought up her passengers.

To the officers of the Oakland, from Owensboro, we are indebted for a manifest. The Superior is the mail and passenge cinnati in time to connect with all the early trains. Through tickets can be obtained of Mi Dunning, the courteous, attentive clerk. Capt. M. Langhorne, once of this city, ha retired from the command of the Memphis packet Messenger, and Capt. W. Miller takes his place.

Thanks to Messrs. Duncan and Triplett

clerks of the Poland, from Owensboro, for a man-The following is from our New Orleans exchanges of last Monday: At the upper steamboat landing an extension is being made out into the river of some distance, all new and substantial. This will afford plenty of water for the boats, and give much more space for their cargoes. At the lower steamboat landing the improvements are not quite so extensive, but they are putting on the necessary renairs.

The Gen Pike left Memphis on Wednesday, the 6th inst., at 6 o'clock, P. M. No boats in port for Louisville; met McLellan first night out at Randolph and the Wood ord at Occols; passed Hickman at head 25; met Southerner aground at foot Cumberland Island; passed Interchange at foot Sisters; met John Raine at Mt Vernon; Poland at Tell City; Kentucky at Cannetton. MONEY MATTERS. The semi-annual statement of the Southern Bank of Kentucky and branches is published. As compared with the statement of 1st of last January, it exhibits the following facts: The discount line of the Bank is reduced from $2,499,457 94, on the 1st January, to 1,985,269 40 on the 30th June, showing that its discounts have been con tracted, in six months, $564,190 54. The circulation of the Bank and branches on the 1st of January was $2,478,189. On the 30th June it was $1,726,854, a reluction of $751,285 during the half year. The cash means, on the 1st January, including amount on deposit n New York, were $1,504,416 10. On the 30th June they amounted to $999,616 80, exclusive of Eastern funds, the amount of which is not stated. The Bank has made a semi-annual dividend of seven p cent., and shows a surplus of undivided profits of $411,658 78, as foliows:

336.653 78 Amount of surplus profits.....$411,658 78 The capital stock of the Bank is only $1,500,000. The statement thus shows that, after paying a half yearly dividend of seven $9 cent., the Bank has accumulated profits of over 27 $2 cent. on the capital stock. Of the capital, $600,000 consists in Kentucky 6 @ cart. Bonds, leaving but $900,000 for banking purposes. To have paid dividends of from to 10 to 12 ? cent. annually, and accumulate so large an amount of profits, with the income on two-fifths of its capital much less than the dividends it has paid, the remaining three fifths must have been very actively handled to have gained so largely. Some persons, apparently well informed on these subjects, say that such a financial feat could not be accom-

The demand for money to-day was not large, and the business men say the market is easy. Some of the pri vate Bankers inform us that there is scarcely a piece of first-class business paper to be bought at higher rates than 6 P cent. & annum, and that the principal paper offering is neither "gilt edged" nor "iron bound," but is such as is usually sold at 1 to 11/2 per cent. a month, even when money is a drug, and to be had at the lowes rates on good paper. The Cincinnati Commercial of this morning says:

The demand for money on choice paper continues fair, but is less pressing than for several days. Offer longs of Exchange from the interior are more frequent and tends to further reduce the bulk of currency required now in the interior, to assist in moving the new wheat crop; its functions will be rapidly performed, and the results of the control of n the natural current of trade will soon find its way ack to our Banks in payment of indebtedness to our erchants.
Exchange gradually weakens, notwithstanding a fair The Herald, speaking of the foreign trade at New York, says:

That the importers of this city have been and are overtrading, they will themselves be ready presently to admit. We fear that many a ship lead of goods will, his fall, change owners in the warerooms of our auc-ioneers, at prices by no means such as are expected by nporters and consignees. The prospect is not agree-ble, of course, and we are not surprised that the im-orters dislike to have it mentioned; but there are the gures—$78,500,00 of importations at this port in three ionths—and this at a time when the West is impoverish-d and living on the future. The country at large is re-iving, plainly enough; in a year or two, or perhaps coner, even the West will, in all probability, be richer and busier, and more prosperous in every way than it ver was; but it is not safe to discount this recovery before it has actually commenced. Those houses will be next spring the richest and soundest which do the smallest business this fall.

New York Money Market.

The Times of July 8th says:

United States 5 $\partial \text{ents}$, the cont. ex. dividend. The general market left off firm. The rise is assisted in some measure, no doubt, by the state of the money market, which, without being decidedly cheaper in terms, manifested every way more confidence than in Jure among lenders, both at the Bark and on the street At the same time the Banks give preference to the shorest date paper and to loars on short notice on strict ly first-class collateral, most of the officers holding to shorest date paper and to foars on short notice on strict pf first-class collateral, most of the officers holding to the opinion that the early fall demand for money will stiffen up the rates by the middle of September. A list of $95.000 indorsed bills, first-class, was placed to-day at 6½ $7 cent. $2 annu n, and some 60-day acceptances at 6 $7 cent. Strictly prime 4@6 months' paper was done through the Discount Brokers at 7 $7 cent. Demand loans came easy to the established Stock and Domestic Exchange firms at 6 $7 cent, and, in some cases, on State and United States collateral, 5% $7 cent. is accepted.

The large conducta of silver, about $5,000,000, heretefore reported as having been selzed by one of the revolutionary parties in Mexico, has arrived safely at Vera Cruz. The larger sum will go to England directions Vera Cruz.

The weakness is confined mostly to several prominent Western ratiroad stocks, which are pressed for sale for future delivery. The weekly bank statement closing to-day will include the average of only five business days, but nevertheless will reflect the heamovements of the week. The Bank specie reserve will we think, be within $21,250,000, and $21,500,000 against $22,500,000 last week.

New York, July 9—P. M.

The close of this week brings with it the first indications of a relaxation in the money market, which was expected after the heavy payments incident to the lst of July, which has been provided for. The tendency to an increased lease, however, is not deemed enough to affect materially the rates of discount, it manifesting itself chiefly in the regotiation of call loans. The abatement in the gold export seems to have contributed to the freer supply, and for a temporary use 5% percent, has been accepted to-day on first class securities; the railing figure is 6 per cent., at which lenders are more numerous than early in the week. On paper, the rates for long dates are fully sustained, and in most cases rather more desirable lists may be had at 7 percent, while short bills are still scarce, and go readily at 60.6% per cent.
